Deco Royale

Monte Carlo, 1925. An oval velvet table seen from above, a gold sunburst behind the dealer, and every player in a gold-framed box like a seat at the opera. The richest of the five, and the most "premium" in feel.

PALETTE

#6E1229	#33060F	#E3C26F	#F6EEDC	#14070C
Velvet	Velvet deep	Gilt	Ivory	Lacquer

TYPE

- Limelight, a 1920s display face, for the table name and big buttons
- Playfair Display Black for totals and money
- Josefin Sans, wide-tracked, for labels

WHAT CHANGES

- A top-down oval table with all five seats around its rim: dealer at the head, you at the foot
- Your total and your bet become two medallions under your cards: a gilt one for the total, a casino chip for the bet
- Stepped deco corners replace rounded rectangles on every plate and button
- The coach's advice moves into the dock header ("Advised: Double"), so it never covers the table
- Velvet replaces green felt, which makes it a natural "VIP table" skin to unlock later
